Christian Missionary Conference yesterday, at 9 o'clock, with devotional exercises.

P. S. Swain, of Plymouth, spoke on the subject of ministerial relief. But little provision has been made in the State for those who have worn themselves out in the service of the churches. A discussion followed regarding the best means of providing for the old ministers who may need help.

The chairman of the Committee on Obituaries, John B. Respess, of Washington, made a report. One minister has died during the past year, Rev. A. C. Hart.

A telegram was received from three young men, who are ministerial students at Kentucky University and are natives of North Carolina, requesting the reading of Col. 3:5. This was read and the telegram responded to.

Dr. J. C. Coggins, president of Atlantic Christian College, addressed the convention on the subject of Christian education. His discourse was followed by a plea in behalf of the college by J. J. Harrier, chancellor, who succeeded in obtaining pledges and cash to the amount of several hundred dollars.

The reports of the various committees were made in the afternoon. The board of officers for the past year was continued. The place for holding the next convention is Washington. It was reported that the amount received for evangellz ng purposes the past year was about 31,050.

The convention closed by a sermon at night by Dr. J. C. Coggins. The convention closed by a sermon a night by Dr. J. C. Coggins.

ANOTHER WRECK

Southern Engine Plows Through Caboose and Several Cars

coose and Several Cars.

(Special to The Times-D spatch.)

SALISBURY. N. C., Oct. 20.—Lexington, about fifteen miles north of this city, was the scene of another wreck on the Southern early this morning. Northbound freight No. 72 was running in two sections and the first section had stopped, according to orders, on the siding at Lexington. The second section, which was a light train, also had orders, it is said, to take the same siding, there being room for both trains. The first section did not send out a flagman in the rear, and, when the second train pulled in, steam was escaping from the engine at such a rate that the engineer could not see the track in front, and when he finally shut off steam he was within a few feet of the caboose of the other train. The engine plowed through the caboose and soveral loaded freight cars of the section in front slightly damaging the engine, Fortunately no one was hurt beyond a severe shock. The track has been cleared and the main line trains were delayed only a short while.

The two colored firemen who were killed in the wieck at Bessemer City, near Charlotte, yesterday each had $1,000 accident insurance with the Actna Company, represented at this place by Maupin Bros. It is learned that this company has prid $2,500 in death claims on account of wrees this year at this point.

A damage suit, instituted against the Southern Rallway by the executor of Postal Carlotte, the second of Scool. The decased, who formerly lived near, Lexington, N. C., had $1,000 life insurance, which has also been settled, it is learned.

Some weeks ago Mr. Marvin Morrow of Blacksburg. S. C., was severely injured in a wreck near Fishing Creek, S. C., and brought suit for damages, but the suit has been compromised and Mr. Morrow receives $4,000 for the injuries sustained, while on the Southern Rallway. (Special to The Times-D spatch.)

He praised Mr. Brauer and declared that he had done much to redeem the county from Republican rule.

"We'll have it again," yelled some one in the audience. "That's where you came from." shouted another. "I'd rather come from hell than go there," replied the speaker. "Go and speak in your own county," shouted one of the disturbers, and Brauer people wanted to take him away, but the Senator appealed that he be allowed to remain. The speaker paid a glowing tribute to labor, and proceeded to make a conciliatory and eloquent appeal in beholf of party regularity and incidentally in favor of Mr. Brauer. "You cannot settle this controvery by acrimony," he went on, "but you should adjust your differences at the ballot box next Tuesday, calmly and coolly, and in the interest of jart; harmony."

"Don't do like Barksdale," said the fellow in the crowd. "Oh, well, Barkedale ain't so bad," rejoined the Judge. "If I were looking for the pink of confection I would not rick out Barksdale, but there are worse men than be."

Here Judge Marshall Interjected a few of his fine stories, and then, having his audience with him, he rose to some of those beautifully eloquent flights of oratory which have marked him as one of the most successful stumpers in Virginia for many years. In defending the authority of the State Committee he feelingly related an incident in his own political life, fresh in the memory of his friends all over the State, which was pathetic to a degree, and which touched deeply the hearts of some of his hearers.

"You may feel that the State Committee has exceeded its authority, but you ought to take your medicine like men." he said. "Under the shining pathway of the stars, out in my mountain section. I stood and saw a nomination for Congress token from me on a forged telegram, which no one has ever been able to justify. "It am now an old man and have nothing to ask of the people of Henrico, but I beg of you not to rend your party in twain over so small an issue as a county treasurership."

Third Day's Session Well Attended and Encouraging Reports Made.

Methodist Church yesterday, the usua excellent attendance was present and the usual interest was manifested in the transactions of the body. The matter of chief moment in the day was the morning. The first meeting of the day began at the usual hour and proved to be most interesting one. Miss Hattle Johnchairman of the credentials committee, submitted her report, was followed by reports from the circles and unions. One of the most interesting Lottie Burwell, of Bedford City. Burwell told of a family which was aided by her circle, in which there were five children, none of whom had any use of their spinal column. Both the father and mother are robust and healthy, but each one of their offspring is affected in the mother are robust and heating, but each one of their offspring is affected in the same way. One of the children was sen to Philadelphia to a hospital for treat ment. The case excited unusual comment, there being few on record. In the family of one of the emperors of Ger-many there was a similar affliction which is caused by some disease of the

Mrs. I. C. Davis presented the plan to the convention of issuing this year a handsome King's Daughters' calendar handsome King's Daughters' calendar, with a prayer for each month, a verse to live by for each month and a church calendar as well as a year calendar. The cost will be 75 cents, and Mrs. Davis asked how many would be taken by the Virginia convention.

In the afternoon session reports continued, and considerable routine business was transacted.

The night session was held at the First Baptist Church, and was largely attended. Dr. George Cooper conducted the devotional exercises. Announcement was made of the officers elected for the ensuing year, as follows:

Pinner, Euffolk; Miss Vina Wilcox, Charles City county; Mrs. Lennie Bonney, Norfolk; Mrs. E. C. Means, Low Moor, and Mrs. L. B. Janney, Richmond.

It was decided to have the next meeting at Front Royal.

Following these announcements the Audling Committee reported the accounts of dress, which was admirable. Resolution of appreciation of the courtesies extende by the people of Richmond, press an transportation companies were adopted. Then occurred the final acts of the convention—the beautiful consecration of the order. STREET CAR IN A BRAZE

Unique Sight in Fulton Early Yesterday Morring.
One of the most unique fires of the number which as occurred in the past few days was that yesterday morning in

A street car in a light blaze is some-thing seldom seen. This happened about 7 o'clock, and it was a troublesome little fire to extinguish. Whie Car No. 42 was passduct at Third and Louislana Streets the trolley wire broke and one piece of it fell

Box 732 was pulled, and in a few minutes engines S and 2 were on the scene. When the water was turned on a portion of the stream struck the car where the wire was touching, producing a beautiful electrical display. The wire was removed and the blaze was soon extinguished. Traffic was blocked for some time and the car had to be towed to the shade.
